POLICE REPORT

June 14, 1990
Motorcyclist dies in crash

A 36-year-old Wheeling man died Monday evening in a motorcycle accident in the 3600 block of W. Lake Avenue, Glenview.

Police said Jerry J. Root Jr. of 860 Maple Lane, Wheeling, was riding his 1967 Honda motorcycle eastbound on W. Lake Avenue about 7 p.m. when he attempted to pass the car ahead of him. However, a westbound car driven by William E. Seawall, 54, of 2255 Telegraph Rd., Bannockburn, was attempting to make a left turn and Root apparently lost control of his cycle while trying to avoid the car.

Steve Hall, Glenview's deputy police chief, said Root appeared to have tried to angle his cycle down in an attempt to stop. Root skidded into Seawall's car.

Root was taken to Lutheran General Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Hall said Root was not wearing a helmet.

Seawall was not injured in the incident. Neither vehicle received significant damage.

Police are considering issuing tickets in connection with the accident.

Woman injured in collision

By MICHAEL ULREICH
STAFF WRITER

A 43-year-old Wheeling woman was listed in good condition Tuesday at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines after a June 5 accident on Lake-Cook Road at Lexington Drive.

Wheeling police said

Sandra Werba, of 128 Coral Lane, was a passenger in a car driven by her 17-year-old daughter Kerri when the car collided at the intersection of Lake-Cook and Lexington roads with a car driven by Wilene Dennison, 43, of 1129 Thorntree Lane, Highland Park.

According to police, Dennison was eastbound on Lake-Cook Road at 4:21 p.m. June 5 when the car Werba was driving turned left in front of Dennison's car.

Kerri Werba was later ticketed for failure to yield. She was unhurt. Dennison was also treated and released from Glenbrook Hospital.

Carol Radlein ~ 1950-2006

Cancer experience inspired students at Wheeling High

BY LIZ CLEMMONS

Daily Herald Correspondent

A stay in the hospital did not stop Carol Radlein from participating in the first lap of last month's Wheeling/Prospect Heights American Cancer Society Relay for Life fundraiser.

The first lap is called the survivor lap to honor those who have survived cancer. Mrs. Radlein's husband, children and other family members took part in the Relay for Life, as well as friend Micki Kaufman, who talked to Mrs. Radlein on the phone during the survivor lap.

"We had made a promise to each other that we would always walk the first lap together," Kaufman said.

For seven years, both women organized a team to take part in the Relay for Life to raise money for cancer research and patient services. The name of the team is Yooper's Troopers. Yooper refers to a person born and raised in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, as Mrs. Radlein was.

The team has raised almost $40,000 over the years and has been a popular one to join.

"This year, she had so many people who wanted to be on her team, she had to have two teams," said Mrs. Radlein's husband, Donald.

Carol Radlein

Mrs. Radlein underwent chemotherapy and surgery after being diagnosed with breast cancer in 1985. She remained cancer-free for 16 years, but it returned in 2001, bringing more treatment and surgery.

After battling a third bout of cancer since 2004, Mrs. Radlein died July 13. She was 55.

Mrs. Radlein worked at Wheeling High School for 12 years, most recently as an assistant in the P.E./Health/Driver's Education division. One of the most critical aspects of her position was scheduling students for driver's education classes.

"She would receive chemotherapy or radiation treatments, then come back to work the same day and take care of these kids," said division head Brian Lichtenberger.

But Mrs. Radlein was most known for educating students and staff members about cancer. She and Kaufman, an assessment center assistant at the high school and cancer survivor, participated in several cancer awareness seminars for students.

They shared their experiences with the young women and discussed the warning signs of cancer and ways to prevent it. The two women were serious about the subject but often tried to make the seminars light-hearted.

"The girls saw us facing things and sometimes facing them with laughter," said Kaufman.

Another co-worker at the high school, Kathy Valin, felt that Mrs. Radlein touched many lives by comforting students who had family members with cancer.

"I think the kids felt a bond with her because she treated them like adults and no question was stupid," Valin said.

Mrs. Radlein's optimism and sense of humor helped her through illness and made her a good example to those at the high school, according to Kaufman.

"She taught us all to laugh through whatever it is that isn't perfect in our lives," she said.

A service for Mrs. Radlein will be held at 11 a.m. today at Immanuel Lutheran Church, 200 N. Plum Grove Road, Palatine, followed by interment at Union Cemetery in Palatine.

Students honor teacher who died at Buffalo Grove HS

Buffalo Grove High School students are finding ways to honor teacher Stephanie Ramos, who collapsed and died in the school building Monday.

BG Gives Back, a student-led club at the school, is collecting cards and letters from students and staff members that they plan to give to the Ramos family, according to Jennifer Delgado, a spokeswoman for Northwest Suburban High School District 214.

Another student group, BG Cares, is creating a mini scrapbook/journal to give to the family. For the next two to three days, each school department will get the scrapbook so staff members can write a message about their co-worker.

Ramos, 39, a world languages instructor, collapsed and fell into the doorway of an open room at 4 p.m. Monday, after students had left for the day. It wasn't until 8:30 p.m. that she was discovered unresponsive on the ground by a school staff member, police said.

An autopsy Tuesday found Ramos died of natural causes.

Visitation for Ramos is scheduled for 3 to 8 p.m. Friday, at Kolssak Funeral Home, 189 S. Milwaukee Ave. in Wheeling. A funeral Mass is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, at St. Joseph the Worker, 181 W. Dundee Road in Wheeling.

Donations can be made to the Latino Parent Organization at Buffalo Grove High School, 1100 W. Dundee Road. Ramos was responsible for organizing the group, which provides scholarships to Latino students and gives Latino parents the opportunity to get involved at the school, Delgado said.

EMPLOYED BY - DISTRICT #214 WHEELING HIGH SCHOOL
AS A ENGLISH TEACHER FOR 30 YEARS
TAUGHT ENGLISH IN THE KINGDOM OF TONGA
WITH THE PEACE CORPS FOR 2 YEARS

Teacher a real 'innovator'

BY EILEEN O. DADAY

Daily Herald Correspondent

Robert J. "Bob" Ranieri was considered a master teacher at Wheeling High School, where he taught English and reading for nearly 30 years.

But he also led his colleagues in the area of staff development, and helped advance the new outcome-based education model and block scheduling throughout Northwest Suburban High School District 214.

"He was a real leader and innovator in the building," said Nancy Holman, associate principal for instruction. "And he was a mentor to so many other teachers."

His faculty colleagues and former students now are mourning his sudden loss.

Mr. Ranieri passed away May 9 of a heart attack.

He was 64.

Just last year, Mr. Ranieri retired after spending 39 years in education.

Those included two years he and his then-new bride, Charlotte, spent in the Peace Corps teaching English in the Kingdom of Tonga.

"Bob taught in a high school and I taught in an elementary school," Mrs. Ranieri

Robert J. "Bob" Ranieri

said. "Those were wonderful years."

Yet even in retirement, Mr. Ranieri, who lived in Hoffman Estates and later Huntley, continued to have a presence in District 214, helping administer the tests to English as a Second Language students last fall.

As recently as this spring, he also led a preparatory course at both Wheeling and Prospect high schools to drill students for the ACT college entrance exam.

"Bob was the consummate educator," said fellow English teacher Pat Doyle. "With equal success, he reached the gifted students who took his AP classes while he helped his students in skills-level classes meet their challenges."

Colleagues fondly remember the reading clinic he held every Saturday morning.

"He told students he would be there all morning," Holman added, "and that they could come in for everything from help with homework to preparing for the ACT."

As part of the clinic, Mr. Ranieri played opera music in the background, trying to elevate the experience for students and hook them on his love of opera. "Often these kids would come back the next week to hear the end of the opera," his wife said. "Imagine that, these were high school students who wanted to hear opera."

In order to honor Mr. Ranieri's memory, school officials and his wife have set up a scholarship in his name to help graduating seniors who share his passion for the arts.

Make donations to the Wheeling High School Community Scholarship Foundation, with the note "Ranieri Scholarship" on the memo line. Mail them to Wheeling High School, 900 S. Wheeling Road, Wheeling, IL 60090.

Robert J. Ranieri | 1941 ~ 2006

Inspired students to read

By Patricia Trebe
Special to the Tribune

Cheri Lisle
5/16/2006

Every Saturday during the school year, teacher Robert J. "Bob" Ranieri was a fixture in the reading lab he established at Wheeling High School.

While opera played in the background, the room became a cozy place for students to find extra help or an extra challenge.

"He was preparing students who ranged from those who were struggling readers to honors and Advance Placement kids, and he would just show up every Saturday out of the goodness of his heart," said Nancy Holman, associate principal for curriculum and instruction.

Mr. Ranieri, 64, of Huntley, formerly of Hoffman Estates, died of a heart attack Tuesday, May 9, in Provena St. Joseph Hospital in Elgin.

After he retired a year ago, Mr. Ranieri continued to help teachers and staff improve reading and test scores at the six high schools in Township High School District 214. He assisted with Prairie State testing, Advance Placement testing, ACT preparation and tests for special education students.

"Wheeling is the most socially and economically diverse [high school] in the district, and we were identified as a school that meets state standards, which is very, very challenging to do with a school of our demographics," Holman said. "Not only did he help students, but also teachers achieve that goal."

For 29 years, Mr. Ranieri taught courses that ranged from basic reading to Advance Placement and independent study.

Along the way, he believed each student could achieve success, Assistant Principal Holly Ravitz said.

"He touched the souls of children," Ravitz said. "He had such a love of reading that he would bring gifted students to a higher level, and he used that same inspiration with the low level students and certainly believed and helped them achieve at a higher level."

Born on Chicago's West Side, Mr. Ranieri graduated from St. Ignatius Preparatory High School in 1959 and went to the Illinois Institute of Technology. He started as a biochemical engineer major but in his sophomore year switched to English. He graduated in 1963.

Mr. Ranieri enrolled in the first English master's program at IIT and graduated in 1966, the same year he married his wife, Charlotte.

He also received master's degrees from Governors State University and Northern Illinois University.

The couple moved to Seattle, and Mr. Ranieri began work on a doctoral degree at the University of Washington. Less than a year later, they joined the Peace Corps and taught English as a second language in the South Pacific nation of Tonga.

"He wasn't happy at the university, and we just decided to go," his wife said. "When you are young you can do those things."

Two years later they returned to Chicago. Mr. Ranieri began his teaching career at a Chicago Catholic grammar school and then joined Aurora Central Catholic High School. In 1975, he joined the faculty at Wheeling High School, where he was also girl's track coach and concession director.

The couple lived in Hoffman Estates for 24 years before moving to Huntley in 1999.

Three years before he retired, Mr. Ranieri was testing assessment director but returned to teaching his final year.

"He loved teaching, and he loved children learning reading," his wife said. "He thought it was the basis of all education. He loved seeing kids go from a low reading score to being able to comprehend what they were reading."

Other survivors include two sons, Jason and Joshua; his father and stepmother, Hercules and Wanda; and a brother, Jeffrey.

Visitation will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. Tuesday, when mass will be said, in St. Mary Catholic Church, 10307 Huntley/Dundee Rd., Huntley.

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth. He will not suffer they foot to be moved: he that keepeth thee will not slumber. Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep. The Lord is they keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand: The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; he shall preserve thy soul. The Lord shall preserve thy going out, and thy coming in, from this time forth, and even for evermore.

Kenneth J. Reckamp ~ 1935-2006

Man built strong foundations

BY KERRY LESTER

Daily Herald Correspondent

Kenneth J. Reckamp spent his life building solid foundations.

A staple of Pepper Construction Co.'s masonry department for 33 years, Mr. Reckamp left a legacy of beautiful buildings throughout Chicago and the suburbs.

"Ken worked on too many (buildings) to count," said his wife of 39 years, Otteline. "He helped build Holy Family Church in Inverness, the Allstate Arena, a number of commercial buildings, and many of the area's hospitals."

Mr. Reckamp died June 27 at his home in Huntley. He was 71.

Born on Oct. 25, 1935, Mr. Reckamp was the second of thirteen children. He grew up on a farm on Wheeling Road, adjacent to where Wheeling Township High School was later built. After spending their youths working in the field, he and his older brother Herbert tried their hands at bricklaying.

"We picked it up simply because it was a job that came with constant challenges," Herbert Reckamp said. "It turned out to be something that we both truly enjoyed."

Earning a reputation at Pepper as a hard worker, Mr. Reckamp was given more and more responsibility as the Chicago suburbs boomed, eventually serving as a vice president of its masonry division.

However, on the job was only one sector where Mr. Reckamp showed dedication.

Kenneth J. Reckamp

"He was just a terrific brother," said younger brother Allan. "He took us kids to things that we wouldn't go to without him."

Allan Reckamp reminisced about going to his first baseball game with Ken. "While I can't remember anymore which teams were playing that day, I will always remember how excited I was that he was the one who took me."

A baseball enthusiast, Mr. Reckamp was a loyal Cubs fan all his life.

Ken and Otteline met through one of his sisters, Eileen.

"(Eileen) and I were in a class together at DePaul University," Mrs. Reckamp said. "We became real close friends, and she invited me to a birthday party at her home. That's where I met Ken for the first time. We hit it off right away."

The couple married at St. Jude the Apostle Church in South Holland on June 24, 1967.

Ken and Otteline had four children, daughters Diane and Karen, and sons Bryan and Mark, who they raised in Arlington Heights.

Because Mrs. Reckamp worked for American Airlines, the family took advantage of the opportunity to travel frequently.

"We went all over the world — to Egypt, Israel, Amsterdam and Holland," she said. "Our last trip together was a cruise to the Greek Isles in 2004."

After Mr. Reckamp retired from Pepper in October 2000, he and his wife purchased a condominium in southern Florida, near Clearwater, where they spent several months out of each year. He enjoyed golfing and was able to watch more of the Chicago sports that he loved. His favorite pastime, however, was playing with their seven grandchildren.

"Ken was a very people loving person," Herbert Reckamp said. "Along with being a family man, he was the type who was able to find something good in everyone. He was funny, extremely outgoing, and always had a smile that went along with something complimentary to say," he said.

Even after being diagnosed with ALS, Mr. Reckamp maintained his positive attitude.

"Ken was very upbeat about his situation," Allan Reckamp said. "He didn't really have a bad day."

Mrs. Reckamp noted that even in his last few years, her husband wore a constant smile and made sure to shake the hand of everyone he met.

Mr. Reckamp was preceded in death by his parents, Claude and Margaret Reckamp; and sisters, Florence Horcher and Eileen Kamis. Other survivors include brothers Tom, Melvin and Wayne; sisters Alice Reckamp, Ruthie Conter, Peg Nowark and Norma Laken.

You can only have one mother, patient, kind and true; No other friend in all the world, will be the same to you. When other friends forsake you, to mother you will return. For all her loving kindness, she asks nothing in return. As we look upon her picture, sweet memories we recall, Of a face so full of sunshine, and a smile for one and all. Sweet Jesus, take this message, to our dear mother up above. Tell her how much we miss her, And give her all our love. Sacred Heart of Jesus, I place my trust in thee.

John K. Reder, 66, of Wheeling, beloved husband and best friend of Henrietta (nee Misztal) Reder, devoted father and buddy of John H., loving brother of Marybeth J. (Dennis) Baum, Jeanne D. Reder, and the late Kathleen M. (the late Kerry) Tinker; devoted son-in-law of Henry and Angelina Misztal; fond brother-in-law of Leonard and Theresa Misztal; dear uncle and great-uncle of many. John proudly served his country in the Air Force during the Viet Nam War. He was stationed at Cam Ranh Bay where he served in the 12th Tactical Fighter Wing. His love for his country was overshadowed by his love for his wife of 36 years, Henrietta and their son, John. John's devotion to his son, who has autism, was a joy to behold. Their bond as father and son was so close, that words were never needed. John's advocacy on behalf of his son and the residents of the Ann Kiley Center was unwavering. He was a member and past president of the Friends of Ann Kiley Center, where his leadership, friendship and sense of humor will be sorely missed. John had a long, distinguished career in the securities industry. He served as executive vice president for First Options of Chicago for many years and in later years owned his own printing business. He enjoyed his retirement and had the opportunity to reconnect with family members and friends and indulged in performing gourmet cooking at home. He will always be in our hearts and our fond memories of him will be treasured dearly. We love you, John. 106th birthday

Residents of the North Riverwoods Center, a convalescent home in Half Day, helped Lillie Redlinger celebrate her 106th birthday at a party Wednesday in the home. Born June 14, 1872 on a farm between Half Day and Wheeling, Miss Redlinger lived on the farm by herself until she was 100 when she moved to Riverwoods Center. The family homestead is now an old fashioned ice cream parlor on Milwaukee Avenue. Miss Redlinger, who likes to listen to music on the radio, is still very alert. She received a pile of birthday cards, including one from President Jimmy Carter.

In restful sleep our mother lies
But we need shed no tear;
For now she rests with Him above,
Free from her labors here.
The Master above called her,
To come to Him above;
Where He bestows His blessings,
On those who gave Him love.
And we shall meet her there one day,
Our joy shall be sublime;
For we shall be with mother again,
Be with her for all time.

I'd like the memory of me
To be a happy one.
I'd like to leave an afterglow
Of smiles when life is done.
I'd like to leave an echo
Whispering softly down the ways.
Of happy times and laughing times
And oright and sunny days.
I'd like the tears of those who grieve
To dry before the sun.
Of happy memories that I leave behind

WHEELING HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR VOTED
"FUNNIEST TEENAGER IN ILLINOIS"
FEBRUARY 18, 2006

Teen gets last laugh in contest

It's official.

Alyssa "Lyss" Remaly is the funniest teenager in Illinois.

The Wheeling High School senior, 17, had the last laugh at the Illinois High School Association's Original Comedy competition this month, edging five boys to become the first female winner since 1995.

"I have no idea where my humor comes from," Remaly said. "If I've made one person laugh during the day, my job is done."

Remaly's winning piece, performed Feb. 18 in Oak Lawn High School, was called "Fitness Camp." It begins with her admission that she "loves being chubby" but has tried every diet. She replaces fitness with another "f" word: "My mom breaks the news—they're sending me to fat camp."

The six-week camp last summer seemed diabolical. "Who puts bunk beds at fat camp?" Remaly asks in her routine.

OK, but is it effective?

"There are a lot of 'lifers' there," Remaly says. "Kids whose parents went there, their grandparents went there. . . ."

Remaly will attend Ball State University in Muncie, Ind., this fall, but she won't major in stand-up. She is leaning toward theater education and production along with business.

Wheeling man in snowmobile accident identified

Daily Herald
Feb-2016

A 53-year-old Wheeling man died Sunday night after his snowmobile plunged into open water on partially frozen Lake Geneva in Wisconsin.

The Walworth County medical examiner on Monday identified the victim as Mark G. Reninger.

Another snowmobiler, a 49-year-old Long Grove man, managed to jump off his own snowmobile before it, too, went into the water.

The survivor -- whom authorities have not yet identified -- was hospitalized only briefly as a precaution against hypothermia, said Conservation Warden Juan Gomez of the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

Reninger was pronounced dead at an area hospital.

According to Gomez, the survivor said the two men had ridden from Fontana to Lake Geneva on their snowmobiles and mistakenly believed they were following the same frozen track on their return.

In fact, their return route was several hundred yards from the path they'd followed on their outward journey, Gomez said.

The survivor told authorities he was able to avoid going into the lake by accelerating over the patch of open water and jumping off his snowmobile onto an ice sheet, Gomez said.

Both vehicles would have plunged 110 to 130 feet at the depth of the lake at that point, Gomez said.

First responders received the call from the surviving man at 9:02 p.m. Sunday. He was picked up on the lake in-between Williams Bay and the Lake Geneva Yacht Club.

Reninger lived in the Arlington Club condominium complex for about the past 10 years, according to his neighbor Stacey Thompson.

Reninger had a small terrier named Bandit and was often seen walking the dog in the neighborhood. In warmer weather, Reninger spent time hanging out in his garage, kind of like a "man cave," Thompson said. At one time, Reninger had a motorcycle.

Thompson said Reninger often went up to Lake Geneva in both the winter and summer.

"He was a pleasant neighbor," Thompson said. "It's shocking. It's like life turns on a dime."

Agencies that assisted in the recovery of the body included the volunteer fire departments of the Town of Linn, Williams Bay and Delavan, which provided a hovercraft. An airboat was sent from the Fox Lake (Illinois) Fire Department. The Walworth County sheriff's office in Wisconsin also assisted.

This was the sixth snowmobile fatality of the season in the area, according to the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

Gomez urged all snowmobile riders to check conditions before embarking on an outing.

"It is recommended to make contact with those in the community to check current ice conditions before venturing out on the lake," he said.

After it initially was considered suspicious, the death of a 43-year-old man found at Evanger's Pet Food in Wheeling now appears accidental, police said Thursday.

Authorities identified Jose Luis Reyes-Leon of Wheeling as the man found unresponsive Wednesday morning at the pet food company, 221 Wheeling Road. Foul play is not suspected.

Reyes-Leon was taken to Glenbrook Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Wheeling police initially asked for help investigating the death from the Major Case Assistance Team, an organization of 22 suburban law enforcement agencies.

The Cook County medical examiner's office performed an autopsy Thursday, and the cause of death is pending further toxicology analysis.

Marvin Reznik ~ 1944-2008

Wheeling funeral director championed organ donation

BY EILEEN O. DADAY

Daily Herald Correspondent

Just last year, it seemed as though Marvin Reznik of Wheeling was riding on top of the world.

Mr. Reznik, a longtime funeral director with Weinstein Funeral Homes, was among 23 people from across the country selected to ride on the Donate Life float in the 2007 Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena.

The honor amounted to being named a national ambassador for the Gift of Hope Organ & Tissue Donor Network during the parade watched by millions.

It culminated a cause he had championed since his son, Michael, died in an automobile accident in 1996 and six of his organs were donated. Just two years later, Mr. Reznik himself would be the recipient of a donated liver after contracting hepatitis C.

"Donating life is the greatest legacy of all," Mr. Reznik said at the time. "Being chosen to ride on the float as a representative of all the volunteers who spread the word about organ and tissue donation, is one of the most heartwarming honors I've ever received. It not only honors me, but also my late son, Michael."

Now, friends and colleagues are calling Mr. Reznik's passion for organ donation his personal legacy. Mr. Reznik, a Chicago native, and six-year resident of Wheeling, died Feb. 8. He was 63.

"He really was a champion of that cause," said Richard Lohrstorfer, Weinstein Funeral Homes general manager. "He spoke about it often, but he really had to work to convince the Jewish community. Judaism is all about keeping the body intact, consequently he worked to get the rabbis' support."

"More than anything else," Lohrstorfer added, "Marvin made the point that donation meant someone else would live. It was giving the gift of life."

Beyond promoting it within his industry and faith community, Mr. Reznik and his colleagues appealed to families at the funeral home, providing them with brochures, Donate Life bracelets and donor registry sign-up cards.

Mr. Reznik grew up in the Chicago neighborhood of Rogers Park, where his father ran a small shop on Devon Avenue across from Weinstein Funeral Homes. After helping to mow the funeral parlor's lawn and clear its parking lot, Mr. Reznik made funeral service his career as a young adult.

He began in the Chicago facility before moving to Florida and then Tucson, Ariz., for 10 years before moving back to Chicago to work at the Wilmette facility.

"He was so caring and such a good listener," Lohrstorfer said. "And if a family had any special request, he would go to huge extremes to make sure it happened. He just was a very compassionate individual."

Mr. Reznik is survived by his wife, Sandra, as well as his daughters, Melissa of Chicago and Amy (Matt) Armstrong of Naperville, and his granddaughter, Jane.

Services were held previously.

Widow was key player in family's restaurants

BY DANIEL I. DORFMAN
Pioneer Press

When Tom Roth looked back on the life of his mother, Ann Roth, a long-time Glencoe resident, he offered a simple assessment.

"She was the arbiter of good taste and judgment," Tom said.

Roth, whose husband, Don Roth, owned the now-shuttered Blackhawk restaurants, died unexpectedly of heart failure Nov. 26 in Miami while she was visiting relatives, according to her family. She was 95.

Born in Aberdeen, Miss., Roth was the daughter of a German immigrant and general store operator Julius Rubel, according to her children. They remembered her talking about how she was the only Jewish girl in town, and how, while the family was respected in the community, occasional Ku Klux Klan marches forced them inside for safety.

After high school, where she was a drum majorette, Roth enrolled at Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans before transferring to Northwestern University as an English major, her family said. She stayed in the Chicago area because she liked the big city and the change of seasons, said her son Doug Roth, also a Glencoe resident.

After graduating in 1943, she took a position as an executive assistant. At a 1951 dinner party hosted by a Glencoe couple, she was introduced to Don Roth, the owner and operator of the popular Blackhawk restaurant, renowned for its spinning salad bowl. A courtship began, with many dates starting with Ann arriving at the Wabash Avenue restaurant as Don was finishing up his responsibilities before they headed out for the evening, the family said.

They married the next

ROTH FAMILY

Ann Roth was married to Don Roth, who owned the Blackhawk restaurants.

year and moved in 1953 to Glencoe, where they quickly became popular members of the community, remembered former village board trustee Joel Solomon.

"She was always a lady and clearly benefited from her upbringing in the South. Whenever you were with her, you appreciated her elegance and appropriateness," Solomon said.

While she was primarily raising the family, Ann Roth recommended ideas to her husband about the Blackhawk and his three other restaurants, her children recalled. One of those restaurants was another Blackhawk in Wheeling.

"She was very instrumental in helping direct my father with her suggestions and ideas on everything from decor to business decisions that he may be challenged with," Doug Roth said. "They had a fabulous love affair and a very strong business relationship."

By the early '90s, Don Roth's health had begun to decline, and Ann Roth took care of him at home and became more involved with the business.

She never complained about the responsibilities, her family noted.

"Her belief was you put everyone before yourself," Doug Roth said.

After Don Roth's death in 2003, Ann Roth continued her involvement in the family business. While the Blackhawk on Wabash closed in 1984, the Wheeling location — which Doug Roth remembered as being a destination for many North Shore families — closed Dec. 31, 2009, according to the family.

Years later, as memorabilia from the Blackhawk — original menus, contracts with big band musicians and table cards — filled file cabinets in the family basement, Ann Roth donated the materials to the University of Illinois at Chicago Special Collections unit at the Richard J. Daley Library. An exhibit showcasing the heirlooms opened in May of this year.

The family said she remained active in recent years, and enjoyed watching sports, particularly the Chicago Bulls. They marveled at how she knew the names of most of the players in the NBA.

Roth was a member of the Chicago Botanic Garden and pursued many interests, including attending concerts at Ravinia and going to Highland Park's Northmoor Country Club with friends, according to her family, who also took note of her generosity with friends and family.

"What she gave to me was a huge heart that allows me today to do small acts of kindness. I try to do that. I would never have gotten that without (her)," Doug Roth said.

Survivors include her children, Doug and Tom (another son, Roger, died in 2007), stepdaughter Melissa Bloch, five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

A memorial service has been scheduled for Glencoe's Temple Am Shalom at 11 a.m. on Dec. 21.

Don Roth, co-founder of Taste of Chicago

BY GARY WISBY
Staff Reporter

Don Roth was one of Chicago's best-known restaurateurs and a co-founder of the music and food festival Taste of Chicago.

His legendary Blackhawk Restaurant was a place to be entertained — by the top big bands that played there and by the way the food was presented.

Mr. Roth, 90, of Glencoe, died Friday of Alzheimer's disease at Highland Park Hospital.

He took over the restaurant at Wabash and Randolph in 1945 upon the death of his father, Otto. It was already famous as the place where the orchestras of Les Brown, Bob Crosby, Kay Kyser and others performed for diners and a nationwide radio audience.

Then and later, food was part of the show. Mr. Roth introduced the rolling roast beef cart and open-hearth grill.

But the Blackhawk's signature presentation was the spinning salad bowl, a tableside preparation including a score of ingredients and a waiter's spiel.

American Airlines featured the Blackhawk's menu in its first-class cabins on flights to the West Coast. The Blackhawk closed in 1984, and four other restaurants opened by Mr. Roth are no longer in operation. Still in business is Don Roth's in Wheeling, founded in 1969.

Owned Blackhawk; it closed in '84

Mr. Roth was the first chairman of Chicago's Fine Dining Association, which he founded along with Arnie Morton and Gene Sage. The group staged the first Taste of Chicago on North Michigan Avenue in 1980.

He was named Foodservice Operator of the Year in 1978 by the International Foodservice Manufacturers Association. And he was the first honoree of the Chicago Foodservice Marketing Club's hall of fame.

Mr. Roth was among the winners of the first IVY Award, the so-called Academy Award of the industry presented by Restaurants & Institutions magazine.

A director of the National Restaurant Association, Mr. Roth was chairman of the National Restaurant Hotel-Motel Show at McCormick Place, and president of the Chicago and Illinois Restaurant Association.

He served on the boards of the American Jewish Committee and the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis, and was a leading patron of the Lyric Opera, Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Ravinia Festival, Art Institute of Chicago and Chicago Botanic Gardens.

Born and reared in Hyde Park, Mr. Roth graduated from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

In New York, he worked for an advertising agency and the theatrical booking agency MCA. He served as a U.S. Marine Corps lieutenant during World War II.

"He had a magnetic personality," said his son Doug. "He was charming and very witty. He had a tremendous sense of enthusiasm and was extremely interested in everything."

Survivors also include his wife, Ann; a daughter, Melissa Bloch; his other sons, Roger and Tom, and five grandchildren.

Memorial services will be at 2 p.m. today at North Shore Congregation Israel, 1185 N. Sheridan Rd., Glencoe.

Wheeling woman dies 3 weeks after crash

12/28/01
Daily Herald staff report

A Wheeling woman injured in a one-vehicle crash in early December has died of her injuries, officials from the Cook County medical examiner's office said.

Laura Rushakoff, 63, suffered the injuries in a motor vehicle accident Dec. 7 on Deerfield Road in Deerfield, officials said.

She was taken from the accident scene to Highland Park Hospital before being moved to Rainbow Hospice Unit in Park Ridge. She died Sunday at 6:53 p.m.

Rushakoff was alone in her vehicle when it hit a ComEd pole at about 10:40 a.m., said Cmdr. Rick Weil of the Deerfield Police Department.

Police don't know what caused her to lose control of her car, he said.

"According to witnesses, she wasn't speeding and the weather was clear that day," Weil said. "We're not sure what happened."

Police don't believe Rushakoff was under the influence of drugs or alcohol, Weil said. An autopsy was to be performed Monday.

Lake County grand jury to probe crash that killed local woman

State police and a Lake County grand jury are investigating the eight-vehicle accident last Thursday night that killed Rani Russell of Wheeling, her fiancé and two other young adults at the dangerous intersection of U.S. 41 and Clavey Road.

The driver of the truck that struck Russell's car, Richard Hall, of Warrentonville, S.C., was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident in connection with the crash, according to State Trooper Jill Allen, public information officer for State Police District 3.

Hall was released on $50 bond, pending a hearing at 9 a.m. Feb. 10 in Lake County Circuit Court, Waukegan.

"Any further charges are in the hands of the Lake County state's attorney's office," Allen said Tuesday.

HALL WAS RELEASED Saturday from Highland Park Hospital, where he had complained of abdominal pains, a spokeswoman said. Authorities said he was traveling back to Warrentonville.

A grand jury was scheduled to convene at 9 a.m. yesterday (Wednesday) in Lake County Circuit Court, Randall Stewart, traffic division chief of the state's attorney's office, said Tuesday.

The grand jury will determine if any criminal actions led to the accident, Stewart said. He expects the jury to complete its work by the end of the month. The jury investigates fatal accidents that may involve criminal charges, he said.

HALL HAS NOT been subpoenaed by the jury, Stewart said.

Hall told state police he was distracted by a radio he had mounted "a couple hours" before the accident on his cab ceiling. He told police that just before the crash the radio swung down, nearly striking his head, and causing him to crash into Russell's car.

"This is the report the driver gave to us, but our investigation is continuing," Allen said.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson identified the victims Friday night as Rani Russell, 23, of Wheeling; her fiancé, Machinist Mate 3rd Class John Shelby Michael, 23, of Mesquite, Texas, who was driving; Russell's 1988 Pontiac Sunbird; Seaman Apprentice Charles Rodman; and 10

May the Angels lead thee into Paradise; may the Martyrs receive thee at thy coming, and take thee to Jerusalem, the holy city. May the choirs of the Angels receive thee, and mayest thou with the once poor Lazarus, have rest everlasting. Amen.

Jesus, Mary and Joseph! Assist me in my last agony.

Jesus, Mary and Joseph! May I breathe forth my soul in peace with you.

Jesus, Mary and Joseph! I give you my heart and soul.

Our Father. Hail Mary.
