Monday morning—back on the job, after five weeks on the ocean. We were as glad to sight land as Columbus at San Salvador nearly 500 years ago.

There was no mail deliveries on the briny deep and we do not dare to express any opinion about local affairs because we know nothing about them. The only thing that we are dead certain about is that our prediction given six months ago that municipal special assessment machinery moves so slowly in Arlington Heights that Campbell st. widening project will not be completed this year.

We have received so much kidding about being an "admiral" that we have decided to put on our "navy uniform" Saturday. It may be only khaki, but it was the "uniform of the day" September 16 to October 23.

We learned a lot about world affairs, talking with officers of the British, French and U. S. Navy, not to mention two Admirals. Some of the information we gathered was off the record; some of it might be labeled communistic, but take it from us too many Americans are like ostriches with their heads in the ground.

We understand our guest editor, T. C. Hart, tried to sell the idea that the editor was receiving a "joy" ride at the expense of the taxpayers. He is all wrong. The little cargo that our bodies represented did not cause any one of those two ships on which we traveled to burn an extra gallon of oil. The room stewards may have done a bit of extra duty, but they did not draw any overtime pay.

It is true that Uncle Sam did not make any profit on the meals that we paid for. The cost of the two steak dinners served to us in the cabins of the two admirals of whom we were guests, came out of their allowances.

We do not know the cost of distilling water, but we doubt if we used over 10 gallons of such water a day, or a total of 3,500 gallons for the entire trip. We saw a lot more than that amount, wasted every day as the seaman washed down the decks.

The only thing left to talk about is the starch that the ship's laundry used on our clothes. Those "uniforms" (we bought and paid

Break Ground For New School In District 250

Ground was broken last week for two new buildings in Community Unit district 250, Hanover township.

A THREE ROOM SCHOOL is being constructed at the corner of Schaumburg and Bartlett rds. in Hanover township. Two rooms plus an all-purpose conference and nurse's room is being added to Ontarioville school.

The building program was planned by a Citizens' Advisory committee, working in conjunction with the board of education. The buildings, designed by the architectural firm of McCaughey and Associates of Park Ridge, employ the latest advancements in school design to aid a sound educational program.

ALL ROOMS WILL have acoustical tile ceilings, asphalt or linoleum tile floors, fluorescent lighting, wardrobes within the rooms, and work counters with sinks and water fountains. Adequate chalk and bulletin board space will be provided. Each building will have a basement community room.

Contracts were awarded to the following firms: general construction, O. W. Potter, Wauconda; heating, Ahrens and Condit, Barrington; plumbing, Triangle Plumbing and Heating, Elgin; and electrical, Parker Electric, Chicago.

Tricks or Treat Fund Drive Raises Money For World Children

A total of $329.17 was collected in Northbrook on the tricks or treats for the world's children drive with more money promised. About 49 young people from the Village Church canvassed Northbrook and then gathered at the church to count the money and enjoy a Halloween party. The gift which will be sent to the United States Committee for UNICEF, was dedicated in a short worship service. It will provide food, clothing, and medical supplies for children in 69 countries around the world.

Honor Three Charter Board Members At Bank Dinner

On Thursday evening 57 stockholders, directors, officers and employees and their guests attended an anniversary dinner of Wheeling State bank at Behm's restaurant. All but four of the 29 stockholders attended.

The dinner was held not only as an anniversary dinner but also to honor the three men who have been associated with the bank since its opening in 1921, Charles F. Balling, chairman of the board; Lew C. Holtje, president of the bank and John Welinske, director, who were each presented with an Elgin wrist watch, engraved "Presented in recognition of 32 years of faithful service — Wheeling State Bank, October, 1953."

days later, proceeded with its organization.

The building on the southeast corner of Milwaukee and Dundee roads was rented from Mr. Fassbender for $400. per year. Used fixtures were purchased for $700., and the original safe was purchased for $850., said Holtje, and on November 26, 1921, the Wheeling State bank opened for business with 32 checking accounts, amounting to $9,627.80 and 49 savings accounts, amounting to $2,115.57.

Original bank directors were Charles F. Balling, Robert M. Campbell, William J. Galitz, Emil Geest, Frank Haben, George Landeck, Peter Schmidt, J. A. Schminke, Quirine Weidner, Edward J. Welflin, Frank Welflin, John Welinske and Charles E. Wenzlaff. On April 30, 1927, the bank moved into its new building, where it is now located, owned by Wheeling Safe Deposit Building corporation.

All of the present employees and officers of the bank were introduced by Howard McKee, chairman of the executive committee of the bank, who also gave the invocation. Upon his introduction, Lew C. Holtje, president of the bank, presented the three men with wrist watches.

HEAVY REPUBLICAN VOTE IN NORTHWEST AREAS

John Grunst Named To Wheeling Board

John A. Grunst was sworn in as trustee of the Wheeling village board Monday night to complete the unexpired term of Ray Lesch, who resigned last May with not quite two more years to serve. The board has been operating since that time with only five trustees, who have made repeated complaints about the short-handedness of the board. Grunst will take over the duties which had been assigned to Lesch, who was appointed as chairman of the Health committee and as a member of the water, license and finance committee.

Robert Wiest was employed as a policeman by the village to fill the vacancy caused by Michael Lazowski, who resigned recently. He began his duties on November 1.

Trustee Runnfeldt, chairman of the water committee, reported that pump parts had been received by Boysen and would be installed in the near future.

A report was made by Village Attorney Howard A. McKee that he had completed his work on rearranging the ordinances so that they could be checked into more readily. He suggested that the ordinances be printed in booklet form and said he had been quoted a price of $900. for 300 copies of

Need More Volunteers To Help With New Church Addition

The men of Wheeling Presbyterian church have been moving along on these clear fall week ends to enclose the structure which is being built as an addition to the church plant. At the close of the second week end's work, the exterior was largely completed except for small operations here and there.

Slightly more than three hundred hours of volunteer labor had been totaled in the preparation of the area, and erection of the building. The cost is expected to be in vicinity of $1,600 for the twenty by thirty-six frame structure.

Enclosing the building makes it possible to perform some of the inside work in the evenings. Since the construction is dependent upon volunteer labor, it must obtain workers when they are available. Outside work has restricted activity to the week ends; the threat of possible weather changes has made completion more urgent.

Members and friends of the church who have a few hours which they might like to share are asked to check with Vernon Schuler on work to be done and plans in view, telephone Wheeling 46-M.

Highway Dept. Sends Completed Plans for Tri-State Expressway

Arlington Heights Plan Commission recently received a complete set of location plans of that part of the Tri-State Expressway between Oakton and the county line.

Suburban Republican Voters Elect Many Judicial Candidates

Any judicial victories that the Republican candidates obtain for contested judicial seats can be credited to the surprising vote polled by that party in the suburbs.

While the total vote cast in Tuesday's election was only a fraction of that cast at the presidential election a year ago, some of the precincts in the northwest towns rolled up a surprising percentage of their registration.

Farmers Favor Price Supports In Depression

In periods of depression, a substantial majority of Iowa and Illinois farmers would favor government price supports for cattle and hogs. A sampling of opinions in this livestock-producing area reveals, however, that under existing conditions they lean away from such aid.

At the time the survey was conducted in April of this year, farmers interviewed were about evenly divided on the question of the government's continuing supports of feed grains. However, they strongly favored such supports during periods of depression.

Farmers of both states want livestock supported when the government is supporting the feed grain prices.

THE OPINIONS on price supports represent a small phase of a comprehensive study of farmers' marketing activities conducted by Iowa State college and the University of Illinois.

Voters in this area are not taking kindly to voting machines and voted overwhelmingly against a bond issue which would have placed the machine in all suburban areas. Palatine township vote on the bond issue was 361 to 1075 against. In Schaumburg township there were only 29 votes favoring the machines and 139 against them. A similar proportion existed in the other townships.

Maine township vote totaled 9,109 with approximately four to one in favor of the Republican candidates. Voting machines were used in Maine and Northfield townships and straight votes are not so registered.

Votes in six of the northwest townships follow.

day, or a total of 3,500 gallons for the entire trip. We saw a lot more than that amount wasted every day as the seaman washed down the decks.

The only thing left to talk about is the starch that the ship's laundry used on our clothes. Those "uniforms" (we bought and paid for) were so stiff when they came back that they could stand alone.

On the other side of the ledger is the loss of three planes totaling two million dollars, 5,000 gallons of aviation fuel that had to be pumped overboard before our cruiser could enter the Boston navy yard. The taxpayers did pay for those.

We did forget one item—7,000 pounds of coffee that the carrier had on board when it left Quonset. The regular daily consumption of an officer is between 12 and 15 cups a day, probably more. Coffee pots were on call all over ship, but we confined our coffee drinking to meal time and an occasional visit to the captain's bridge, where as his guest, we had a "quick one or two."

The charge that the U. S. armed forces spend money high, wide and handsome is another fallacy. It is true that when the Bennington left Quonset there was a million and a half dollars in its safe. No greater amount was needed because three days after the men and officers receive their semi-monthly checks, 80% of the payroll is back in the coffers of the ship through purchases at the ship's stores and the postoffice.

There are as many auditors on that ship as there are departments. The most worried man we came across was the supply officer who had figured so close the rations of the 3,200 men on the ship that at the end of the month his balance in his budget was only $10. He hoped that he would never again run so close.

We were not traveling at "Queen Mary" speed because 32 knots would have used the entire ship's fuel supply within a week, which explains why a speed of 16 knots was the average run.

The sixth Mediterranean fleet is the only thing that prevents Russia from annexing all of southern Europe. That fleet is not there merely as a gesture of friendliness to the countries bordering that sea. Without it, existing democratic morale in southern Europe would evaporate.

It is true that a great many people in Italy, France and other points do not like the United States. The "go home Americanos" signs are only an expression of a citizenry who have been told that the food and goods we are giving to them is charity. They do not seem to realize that the U. S. which is attempting to buy their support with U. S. dollars, is getting its money's worth if the countries only keep away from Communist beliefs.

The Trieste decision of the United States gave two sailor boys an evening of free pool in Palermo. As they asked for their bill they are told, "No charge, thank you for giving us Trieste."

All of the above leads up to just one thing—United States cannot afford to "go it alone." We agree with the minister who in his sermon last Sunday made the comment that a certain Chicago news paper might question the Kingdom of God because it threatens the children in 69 countries around the world.

Sgt. Johnson Elected Fourth Vice President Of Police Association

Sgt. Oscar Johnson of the Arlington Heights police department was recently elected the fourth vice president of the Illinois Police association. He is retiring chairman of the North Shore division of the association.

Sgt. Johnson and Officer Irvin McDougall were delegates at the annual meeting held at the Hotel Sheraton, Chicago, October 21 and 22. More than 400 delegates attended, representing more than 12,000 members of this statewide organization.

Violators Pay $461 In Fines; Kids Praised For Hallowe'en Behavior

Police traffic court in Arlington Heights netted $461 in fines this week, including two fines, one of $100 and the other of $150, for two men arrested for driving while under the influence of liquor.

The other violations included speeding, going through stop signs, overlength trailer, no driver's license, no tail lights, and failure to put out flares and fuses for a stalled truck. An additional $12 was collected for overtime and illegal parking.

CHIEF OF POLICE Carl H. Skoog said this week the police department occasionally has some good things to report, such as the "splendid conduct of teenagers attending the Youth Center Hallowe'en party."

In a letter to L. J. Knoepfel, superintendent of the Arlington high school, Chief Skoog wrote, "I personally visited Ramble Inn in the company of two of my police officers and I am happy to say we can be proud of our Arlington Heights youth and those of our neighboring communities who attend our high school. It was a full house of happy merry makers, who left the party and returned home without unnecessary noise or disturbance, with the exception of a few, who were picked up for shooting firecrackers in the park."

Two dog bite cases were reported this week. One victim was a man who was delivering a parcel, and the other a 2½ year old girl. Both were treated by doctors and owners of the dogs were notified to keep their dogs under observation for the required period of time.

A BOY SHOOTING an air rifle across a public road was reported to the police. Chief Skoog wishes to remind residents of the new ordinance passed by the village which prohibits the shooting of firearms within the village limits. Those caught violating this ordinance will be arrested.

A car, driven by Edith Clarke of Arlington Heights, went out of control Tuesday morning while she was trying to park it in front of the A&P store on Campbell st. One of the plate glass panes was broken and another cracked as a result of the impact. The Clarke auto was damaged on the right front fender, bumper, light and hood.

Mrs. Theresa Bruhnke, 709 N. Vail, received a sprained left hand and a fractured rib when the parked auto she was sitting in was struck head on by another car dollar mark during the summer of 1949.

All of the present employees and officers of the bank were introduced by Howard McKee, chairman of the executive committee of the bank, who also gave the invocation.

Upon his introduction, Lew C. Holtje gave a short talk on the history of the bank, in which he stated that on July 20, 1921, application for permission to organize was made by a group of men, consisting of J. Schwingel, who was then president of the village board; Jacob Fritsch, justice of the peace at that time; J. A. Schminke, retired merchant; H. H. Pohlmann, farmer; Frank Forke, undertaker; J. A. Rockenbach, retired farmer, and Charles F. Balling, who saw the need for a bank in the town and, after permission to organize was given 10

In his talk, Holtje also announced "This bank was formed to provide service and security for the people in the Wheeling community. That this purpose has been fulfilled is well demonstrated in the fine growth of the institution during the past years. It is the hope and desire of all those connected with the bank to continue to serve the people of this community in this same manner for many more years to come."

Glenbrook Crowns Queen at Homecoming

THE ACCIDENT occurred Monday night in front of 203 S. Evergreen. Mrs. Bruhnke was sitting in her son, Robert Bruhnke's auto, which was parked on the east side of the street, facing north. Tabor was traveling south on Evergreen when the accident occurred. He was booked for driving while under the influence of liquor.

The left front fender, bumper and headlight of both cars were damaged.

Charles Pingel, of 33 S. Evergreen, escaped injuries Monday afternoon when his truck was caught between the gates at the State rd. railroad crossing. Pingel told police he did not hear the bells ringing and was in the center of the track when the gates came down suddenly. The northeast gate was broken as he drove the truck off the track. The truck was not damaged.

Mrs. Robert Peet, 210 Fairview, Elmhurst, reported to the police that the hub caps were stolen off her auto while it was parked at the high school Monday night.

Truck in which Fred Kraus, 24, of Wheeling, was seriously injured last Saturday when it went out of control and hit a cement culvert on Dundee rd., near Buffalo Grove rd. On April 30, 1927, the bank moved into its new building, where it is now located, owned by Wheeling Safe Deposit Building corporation.

PRESENT officers and employees of the bank are Balling, president; R. I. Benson, executive vice president; William E. Spademan, cashier; Neale A. Gripentrog, assistant cashier; Miss Ruth Spitzbart, assistant cashier; Miss Barbara Schwab, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Eva Meling, clerks. Directors are Balling, Benson, Holtje, McKee, George R. Miller and Welinske.

In his talk, Holtje also announced "This bank was formed to provide service and security for the people in the Wheeling community. That this purpose has been fulfilled is well demonstrated in the fine growth of the institution during the past years. It is the hope and desire of all those connected with the bank to continue to serve the people of this community in this same manner for many more years to come."

Glenbrook Crowns Queen at Homecoming

Cora Lee Zender was crowned Homecoming Queen of 1951 at Glenbrook high school's first homecoming dance Saturday night where 400 students and their guests danced to the music of Johnny Marlowe.

The queen, wearing a black velvet dress, led her court to the throne, where Larry Borre, captain of the Glenbrook football team, crowned Leslie Rathburn, freshman attendant, and Marilyn Epp, sophomore attendant. Barbara Gloedy and Joan Welter, junior and senior attendants, received crowns from John McCann, football co-captain.

Gordon Bruno, senior class president, then placed the silver crown on the smiling brunette queen, who was elected last week by the Glenbrook student body.

A report was made by Village Attorney Howard A. McKee that he had completed his work on rearranging the ordinances so that they could be checked into more readily. He suggested that the ordinances be printed in booklet form and said he had been quoted a price of $900 for 300 copies of such a booklet, which would be complete with indices. The matter was discussed thoroughly, with the idea in mind that many copies would not be necessary and that it might be cheaper to have the ordinances mimeographed and placed in loose-leaf books. Trustee Grunst was to assign.

Consumers Co. Start Operation of Transit Mix Plant at Arlington

The Consumers Co. started the operation of a transit mix plant this week on the property of Arlington Elevator and Coal Co., Arlington Heights. The mixing of the sand, gravel and cement is done while the truck is in transit, which method eliminates the noise and dust that usually surround the normal cement mixing plant.

Arlington Elevator & Coal Co. investigated thoroughly the method proposed to be used by Consumers Co. before it executed a lease for the use of part of their property. Three silos were demolished and many thousands of dollars were expended for the installation of the machinery for new operations. Additional silos will be torn down in the near future as coal will not be handled.

William Schlagel is in charge of sales and Ray Leppig will be in charge of operations. It is expected that from six to eight trucks will be placed in service to handle the product of the Arlington plant. The company has a similar plant at Skokie.

Geo. Schneberger, general manager of Arlington Elevator and Coal Co., states that his firm will continue to supply customers with the building materials which it has previously sold.

Presbyterian Church To Observe 89th Anniversary Sunday

The Community Presbyterian church, Wheeling, will recognize its 89th anniversary at the worship service, Sunday, at 10:30 a.m.

The church was organized as the Zion German Presbyterian church in Wheeling, in the fall of 1864. Previously, there had been a short time spent as a church called Zion United Lutheran and Reformed church.

The pastor, the Rev. William McGill, will preach on "The Bellwether" at the anniversary service.

Through its years of service the Community church has endeavored to serve the village and the surrounding community with a program of Christian education and Christian service for all persons.

Tri-State Expressway

Arlington Heights Plan Commission recently received a complete set of location plans of that part of the Tri-State Expressway between Oakton and the county line.

Charles F. Seals, Jr. pointed out to the commission that part of the expressway is located immediately adjacent to the Stonegate subdivision. He explained residents of this subdivision find such proximity objectionable, due to motor truck noises and traffic hazards on the approaches to the expressway and general congestion. He requested the commission to study a relocation of the expressway further east, insofar as it affects the Stonegate subdivision.

In order to make this further study, the commission has requested a map of Arlington Heights, showing the latest subdivisions on either side of the proposed expressway with the proposed route of the Tri-State superimposed thereon.

The county highway department stated Tuesday it does not anticipate the extension will be constructed in the next few years, but it is its policy to refer to municipal authorities route plans as soon as its engineers have completed them.

The plan commission does not favor the vacating of Grove street between S. Beverly Lane and S. Dryden place due to the fact that a main line sewer underlies the entire street. Adjoining property owners will be encouraged to establish lawns and to otherwise keep up the appearance of the "street" lots.

L. Toupence, Wheeling Killed in Auto Crash

Louis J. Toupence of Wheeling was killed Tuesday evening when his car collided with another, driven by Franklin Hamm of Fox Lake, at Wolf and Palatine rd. Hamm is in serious condition in St. Francis hospital, Evanston.

Toupence was apparently returning home from his work at the Shakeproof corporation in Des Plaines when the accident occurred. The inquest held Wednesday morning at Oehlert's was continued until December 2, pending the recovery of Hamm.

Toupence, born July 24, 1903, in Pittsfield, Mass., was married and the father of four children, the oldest of which is eight. Funeral services will be held Saturday from Oehlert's chapel in Des Plaines with Deerfield Masons officiating.

Survivors include his wife, Elma, children, Betty, Richard, Robert and Susan; his mother, Lea Toupence, and a brother, Roger.

Grove School to Hold Open House November 12

Open house will be held at Grove school, Northbrook, in both buildings from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. November 12 in honor of American Education week.

The theme for the week is "Good Schools Are Your Responsibility." More than 12 million people are expected to accept the school's special invitation to visit classrooms and observe school work.

At Grove school the children will be dismissed at noon November 12 and will return in the evening. The parents may then

THE OPINIONS on price supports represent a small phase of a comprehensive study of farmers' marketing activities conducted by Iowa State college and the University of Illinois, financed largely from a grant from the Chicago Union stock yards. The opinion data collected in personal interviews with 588 farmers scientifically selected by the statistical laboratory at Iowa State college. The area covers the entire state of Iowa and the Northern three-fifths of Illinois.

At the time the survey was conducted in April, 59 per cent of those interviewed said they favored support of cattle prices in times of unfavorable price levels. At that time 35 per cent thought cattle prices should be supported, 55 per cent were opposed and 10 per cent were undecided. Cattle were selling at about 80 per cent of parity when the interviews were taken.

TO THE QUESTION of government support of hog prices, 59 per cent said they would favor it if hog prices should drop to unfavorable levels. On the question of hog supports at the time of the survey, 61 per cent were opposed, 30 per cent in favor and 9 per cent were undecided. Hogs then were selling at 102 per cent of parity, and prices had been rising steadily for nearly three months.

Questioned on supports of feed grains, 63 per cent looked favorably on government aid when prices are depressed, only 30 per cent were opposed, and 7 per cent were undecided. Under conditions prevailing in April, 44 per cent were in favor of continuing grain supports at that time, 48 per cent were opposed and 8 per cent were undecided.

THERE WAS a wide variation in opinion in the two states on the feed grain support. In Iowa 72 per cent wanted grain supports when the price level is down, 22 per cent were opposed and 6 per cent were undecided. The percentage in Northern Illinois ran 46 per cent in favor 44 per cent opposed and 10 per cent undecided.

In July survey, the same farmers were asked which they would prefer if given the following choices: (1) cut corn acreage and keep a 90 per cent of parity loan rate, or (2) keep corn acreage free of control and take a cut in loan rate. Their replies were about evenly divided—44 per cent favored a reduction in loan rate and no acreage control; 42 per cent preferred acreage control and a 90 per cent of parity loan rate; 2 per cent were opposed to any government control or price support and 12 per cent were undecided or failed to give an opinion. A smaller percentage of the Illinois Farmers than of the Iowa farmers favored acreage cuts.

Friday afternoon, November 13, there will be an American Education Week assembly program in the gymnasium, beginning at 1:30, to which the parents and general public are invited. This year's program will include musical selections by the accordion band and chorus under the direction of band teacher Howard Abbott and vocal music teacher, Mrs. Phyllis Snetsinger.

School will be closed November 11 in observance of Armistice day.

Party Cuts Halloween Pranks in Wheeling

It was a most quiet Halloween week end reported Wheeling Police Chief George Brautigan, with no calls of vandalism or mischief of any kind to take up the time of the police force.

The Chief feels the Halloween party given Saturday night in which all of the organizations and village officials of the town cooperated and which had an attendance of well over 500, helped in bringing about this good behaviour.

Out of Hospital

Mrs. Betty DeBoest came home last Sunday from the Evanston hospital. She was under observation for two weeks and had x-rays and treatment. She will convalesce at home for at least another two weeks.

The local Men's Improvement association met at the home of Arthur DeMarco Monday night.

Last week Tuesday, Mrs. Shirley Kuennen was hostess to the women's "Neighbor's Club." Mrs. Marianne Weidner, who was away for a while, has rejoined the group. Discussions are under way for a Christmas dinner party.

Treats or Tricks

The neighborhood kids had a wonderful day on Halloween. Dressed in their mothers' cleverly designed Halloween costumes, they soared forth by the dozens to scare and collect from the waiting public. No damage was done!

Jazz Concert To Feature Top Artists

The new gymnasium of the Arlington Heights high school November 12, at 8:30 p.m., will be the scene for one of the greatest and most unusual musical moments ever to be witnessed in this area. Seldom is it possible to bring together in one evening such brilliant exponents of American jazz as Billy Eckstine, Woody Herman and Sidney Bechet but the Wheeling Township Junior Chamber of Commerce has done it.

the board did promise that it would again contact the state to see if one could be installed.

A sketch of a proposed two-story building on Milwaukee ave. was presented to the board for its consideration for approval of a building permit for A. Fassbender. Since he wished to put the new building in line with his existing buildings at that location and which is not in compliance with the zoning regulations, it will be necessary for an appeal to be made to the zoning board, it was decided. A building permit was approved for the building of an addition to the Community Presbyterian church.

Work on the house numbering project is continuing, reported Trustee Willis, and will be completed as soon as possible. However since the work of calling on each resident to assign the numbers is a slow, time-consuming job, and is being done in the trustees' spare time, the people are asked by the committee to be patient and they will be called upon by a member of the board and assigned their house numbers as soon as possible.

Work on sidewalk repairs is progressing satisfactorily was the report by the street and sidewalk committee.

SUGGESTION was made to the board by Carl Anderson of Eola Flower shop that the speed limit be reduced from 30 miles to 20 miles per hour on Milwaukee ave. on the north side of town and that a blinker caution light be placed on the north end of town to slow down speeders. Anderson presented a letter to the board written by him, Erick Wenzlaff and Ernest Hagerstrom, all of whom have businesses in this area and all of whom agreed that the speeding created a hazard. It was explained that the speed limit is set by the state and that the 30 mile speed limit was the lowest the state would allow. The state had been previously approached about a blinker light, with no results. However Winter On Way?

There was ice in the bird bath this morning. Gradually day by day the temperatures are falling below the day before. This Winter seems to be creeping up on us like a hunter stalking game.

Lucky us human game can forestall the rigors of cold by preparing with adequate supplies of fuel and warm clothing. And there are always the storm windows to put up.

Of course, if humans were like ordinary animals all that would be necessary would be to grow an extra heavy winter coat. The writer once proved this point to Mr. W. H. Hearst's satisfaction by interviewing the animals in Lincoln Park Zoo accompanied by a photographer. The little "beasties" and the birds prepared for that tough winter with extra growth of hair and feathers.

Not having consulted our forest friends thus far this season we are not prepared to predict the severity of this Winter. All we are ready to state is that there will be colder temperatures and some snow. Thus warned, our home town merchants have prepared to furnish adequate supplies for keeping warm in the form of fuel and clothing.
